YLF 15

July 15-19, 2013

YLF 15 July 15-19, 2013, at the University of Central Arkansas Conway

YLF is for a select group of tomorrow's leaders who have a disability.

All costs are paid for those who are selected.

If you'll invest five days of your summer, we promise you'll learn things that you will use for a lifetime.

Transition: You have the same rights in college as you did in high school, BUT there is a difference in how you go about getting them. You'll learn those differences at YLF.

Time Management: To survive college, you'll need to use time wisely and have good study skills. YLF provides key elements to make things easier for you and help you learn what rights are afford to you.

Networking: You'll get exposed to networking with the other YLF students. You'll learn how they thrive despite their disabilities and trade ideas with one another.

Independent Living: Experts in their fields will help ease the fears of moving out on your own, shopping for groceries, managing money and understanding the importance of the interaction of health care and nutrition.
